NEW-YORK, Oct. 14. The official statement of the Washington Bureau of Statistics of the exports of petroleum and petroleum products in August shows that the conservative dealers were correct who predicted that the early dulness in the refined trade must be followed by heavier purchases later on. The exports of illuminating oil in August were 41,600,932 gallons, valued at $3,580,488, an herease over the corresponding month has year of 7,021,520 gallons, and of value of $746,573. For the eight months to August 31 the exports were 290,263,062 gallons, valued at $25,924,528, a decrease of 5,206,543 gallons, and of $902,717. The foreign demand continued good in September, and a gain equal to that of August would place the nine months' figures gratifyingly near to those of the first nine months of 1882. The total exports of petroleum and its products in August were 5,569,733 gallons and $629,852 value in excess of August, 1882. For the eight months to August 31 they were only 5,206,543 gallons and $29,124 value behind the corresponding period a year ago.

The statement of the production of the Cooper tract last week from the gauge taken on Friday shows a de-crease of 219 barrels from the previous week, although two new wells were opened and twelve old wells torpedoed. The figures are: Production, 3,923 barrels; 125 late the output of the old wells. This district, however, presents no rate of increase that promises to make up for the constant decline in the old regions. The figures of the pipe lines continue "bullish," the statement to

> The situations of the iron and coal trade were not improved during the week. Some additional furnaces are blowing out and the stock of iron as reported shows some reduction, but as the new system of the coal companies in stacking stocks for their own account all over the country has been imitated to some extent by iron makers, the official reports of stocks now fail, as do those of the coal companies' reports," at tide water," to tell the exact condition of stocks owned. The great case in money aids to carry product by means of consignees' acceptances of shippers' drafts, which makes a class of paper that is regarded favorably for discount at banks. The coal companies as yet have done nothing toward the restriction of product, and it is notice able that the companies mostly extended-except the Pennsylvania-are those which oppose such ac-

The eastward railway movement of flour, grain and provisions from last week shows the usual disregard of the "pool" percentages as recently allotted by Mr. Commissioner Fink. And what is true of dead freight out of Chicago is unquestionably true of all other freight movements, both east and west, of which no weekly statements are made. The movement of last week was 2,336 tons greater than for the preceding week; 22,864 tons greater than for the week of 1882, and 2,390 tons greater than for the week of 1881. Yet the six old lines, last week, carried only 11,761 tons more than in the week of 1882 and 8,713 tons less than in the week of 1881. The percentages of the various systems compare as follows: The two old Vanderbilt lines last week had 28.5 against 29.6 the proceding week, 40.5 for the week of 1882, and 56. per cent in 1881; the two Pennsylvania lines had 24.9 against 21.6 the preceding week, 42.1 in producing wells; 11 wells drilling and 9 rigs up and 1882 and 24.9 per cent in 1881; the Baltimore building. The gauge of the Baltown district may show and Ohio had 7.5 against 6.4 for the preceding a maintenance of the production on account of the new | week, 9.1 in 1882 and 5.2 per cent in 1881; the wells and the vigorous artificial efforts made to stimus Grand Trank had 16.4 against 18.5 for the preceding week, 8.3 in 1882 and 9.2 per cent in 1881. MINES AND MINING.

SEEDLY, Oct. 14-E.M. The business in mining stocks hast week was rather more active than during the preceding week, and in some instances there were partial recoveries from the lowest prices. Favorable reports of prospective results from recent developments have been received from various sections of the mining districts, but they have not yet stimulated any buying of slocks. It is reported that the famous Ontario mine will resume the payment of dividends soon. Its last dividend was in January, 1883.
